Boeger Winery

Almost all of the grapes used for wine at Boeger are grown in the winery's vineyards, with Zinfandel, Cabernet, and Sauvignon Blanc having been offered for years. The winery also produces Muscat Canelli. Like others in the area, Boeger is growing young plantings of Sangiovese, Nebbiolo, and Refosco, taking advantage of the region's affinity for northern Italian grape varieties. He also produces Syrah and Grenache -- Rhone varieties -- and two Spanish wines, Graciano and Tempranillo. Bordeaux is represented by Cabernet franc, Merlot, and Petit Verdot. The winery now produces about 20,000 cases a year
